

Split your super contributions

About this form

You can use this form to split eligible contributions from your Catholic Super account into your spouse's super account in Catholic Super or in another fund.

What is contribution splitting?

Contribution splitting enables you to increase your spouse's super by giving them some of your super. When you split your contributions, you transfer or roll over a portion of the contributions you recently made to your super account to your spouse's super account.

Who can split contributions?

You can apply to split your contributions regardless of your age, but your spouse must be under 65 and:

- be aged less than their preservation age, or
- be aged between their preservation age and age 65 and not yet retired.

What is the definition of a spouse?

The definition of a spouse includes a person:

- you are legally married to
- you are in a relationship with that is registered under certain state or territory laws (including registered same-sex relationships)
- of the same or of a different sex, who lives with you on a genuine domestic basis in a relationship as a couple (known as a 'de facto spouse').

When can you apply to split contributions?

You can only apply to split contributions made to a particular super fund once in a particular financial year. You need to lodge a contribution splitting form with Catholic Super:

- in the financial year immediately after the financial year in which the contributions were made, or
- in the financial year the contributions were made, only if your entire benefit is being withdrawn before the end of that financial year as a rollover, transfer, lump sum benefit or combination of these.

If you are also intending to claim a tax deduction on your personal contributions to your super account, you must lodge Catholic Super's Deductions for personal contributions form with Catholic Super before you lodge your contributions splitting form.

Do split contributions count towards your own contributions cap?

Yes. Contributions splitting does not reduce the amount counted towards your own contribution caps. Catholic Super still reports to the ATO all the contributions that were made to your super account, including any contributions that were later split/transferred to your spouse.

For information about contribution caps, refer to the ATO 'Super contributions – too much super can mean extra tax' (NAT 71433) to check the current cap amounts.

What contributions can be split?

You can split concessional contributions (ie before tax) received in a financial year with your spouse. The most common concessional contributions are:

- any contributions your employer made for you
- any salary sacrifice (pre-tax) contributions you made
- any personal contributions (after-tax) you made for which you have lodged a notice with Catholic Super to claim a tax deduction.

The maximum amount you can apply to split is the lesser of 85% of the concessional contributions for that financial year and your concessional contributions cap for that financial year.

You can access information about the contributions made to your Catholic Super account by logging into your account online.

When would your contribution splitting form be rejected?

Your application to split your contributions is invalid if:

- Catholic Super has already received a splitting contributions form from you in that financial year
- your spouse is 65 years old or over
- your spouse has reached preservation age and is retired
- your form has not been correctly completed.

2 – Contributions splitting details

Write the amount or percentage that your spouse is to receive. It cannot be more than 85% of the contributions you made or more than your concessional contributions cap for the financial year.

The contributions I would like to split with my spouse are:

Last financial year

30/06/ (year) Percentage % OR Dollar amount $, .00

This financial year (only applicable if you plan to close your account in this financial year)

30/06/ (year) Percentage % OR Dollar amount $, .00

Note: From 1 July 2019, the concessional contributions cap may be increased above the general concessional cap if you are eligible. To be eligible you must make concessional contributions in excess of the general concessional cap, have a total superannuation balance less than $500,000 immediately prior to the financial year, and have unused concessional cap space from the previous 5 years (with 2018–19 financial year being the first year you can accrue unused concessional contributions). Your concessional contributions cap will equal the general concessional cap plus the previously unused concessional contributions made in excess of the general concessional contributions cap. Your increased concessional contributions cap, will be used to determine the maximum amount of your splittable concessional contributions.

Contributions can only be split to an open super account held in the name of your spouse in Catholic Super or another complying super fund. If your spouse does not have another super account, they may have the option of joining Catholic Super. 4 – Proving your identity (Member to complete)

To protect your super, you need to prove your identity when you are requesting to split contributions from your Catholic Super account with your spouse.

(a) For contribution splits to Catholic Super or another super fund, you can authorise Catholic Super to use your tax file number

I authorise Catholic Super to use my tax file number (TFN) to verify my identity with the ATO:

For more information about providing your TFN, please see the Product Disclosure Statement.

I understand that if my TFN is unable to be verified, Catholic Super will require me to provide certified copies of proof of identity documents before my contribution split request can be processed.

(b) If you don't want to use your TFN for identification purposes, you must provide certified proof of identity documents

I have attached certified proof of identity documents in accordance with the information below.
